Greatest Sea Tragedy in Marine History

New York, April 15th:

More than 1500 persons, it is feared, sank to their death early yesterday when within four hours after she crashed into an iceberg, the mammoth White Star liner Titanic, bound from Liverpool to New York on her maiden voyage, went to the bottom off the Newfoundland banks. Of the approximately 2200 persons on board the giant liner, some of them of world wide prominence, only 675 are known to have been saved. The White Star line office in New York while keeping up hope to the last were free to admit that there had been "horrible loss of life".

Accepting the early estimates of the fatality list, the disaster is the greatest in the marine history of the world. Nearest approaching it in magnitude were the disasters to the steamer Atlantic in 1873, when 574 lives were lost, and to the Lusitania in 1915, with a fatality list of 571. Should it prove that the other liners, notably the Allan liners Parisian and Virginian, have not picked up other passengers, the extent of the calamity will have been even greater. This hope still remains.

News of the sinking of the liner and the terrible loss of life in consequence came early last evening with all the greater shock because hope had been buoyed up all day by reports that the steamer, although badly damaged, was not in a sinking condition, and that all her passengers had been safely taken off. The messages were mostly unofficial, however, and none came direct from the liner, so that a lurking fear remained of possible bad news to come.

Shortly after 7 o'clock last night there came flashing over the wires from Cap. Race, within four hundred miles of which the liner in the treacherous Newfoundland region had struck the berg, which brought her to grief at 2.20 o'clock Monday morning. Three hours and five minutes after receiving her death blow, the Titanic had sunk. The news came from the steamer Carpathia, relayed by the White Star liner Olympic, and revealed that by the time the Carpathia, outward bound from New York and racing for the Titanic on a wireless call, reached the scene, the doomed vessel had sunk. Left on the surface, however, were lifeboats from the Titanic and in them were some 675 survivors of the disaster. These, according to the advices, the Carpathia picked up and are now being brought to New York. For the rest the scene as the Carpathia came up was one of desolation. The $10,000,000 floating palace on which nearly 2200 people had been en route to this country the biggest ship in the world had gone down snuffing out in her downward plunge, hundreds of human lives.

The Olympic despatch follows: "The Carpathia reached the Titanic position at day break and found boat and wrecking only. All her boats are accounted for, containing 675 souls saved, some of the crew and passengers included. Nearly all the saved are women and children. The loss likely will total 1400 souls.

At least eight of the passengers on the wrecked Titanic are known to have been bound for Calgary. These are Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Dick, Mr. and Mrs. Pugh, Mrs. Marshall, wife of Frank L. Marshall of River side and three Marshall children and George Williams from Bristol

Sold $4,000 Worth of Horse Flesh

On Tuesday Mr. H. Collins our local horse fancier, delivered according to his agreement of sale, $4,000 worth of standard bred horses to Mr. T. J. Colley of Stettler who is starting a standard bred stock farm in the northern town. The catalog of sale was made up of the standard bred stallion "Flash line" which brought him $2,500; one Flashline filly, 3 yrs. old realized $600; two brood mares brought $750, while a yearling Flashline colt realized $150. Mr. Colley's foreman was in Bowden Tuesday arranging the transportation of the stock to Stettler.

A. McLean Is Elected

Until the poll opened at five o'clock on Tuesday in the village by election for the election of a new councillor, little interest was manifest on the part of the electors. After the poll opened interest quickened and the vote polled was a heavy one. When the poll closed the returning officer made the following announcement: Mr. A. McLean 21, C. E. Morfitt 5, this giving Mr. McLean a majority of 16 votes.

The Solution

Our pig weight problem which we published caused quite a lot of figuring on the part of our local mathematicians but so far no one has made known to us the right answer. We publish the question and correct solution as follows:

A farmer and his wife wishing to obtain the weight of a pig, and having no scales, hit upon the following novel plan: They placed a board across a fence so that it balanced when each were seated on opposite ends, they then changed ends having the board in the same position the farmer's wife taking the pig on with her, the farmer taking the opposite end and the board just balanced. The farmer weighed 160 lbs. and his wife 135, how much did the pig weigh?

SOLUTION

The woman and the man to balance each other must have the plank on their respective sides of the fence in the inverse proportion to their weights, that is 160:135.

Now the man (160 lbs) on the 160 end of the plank balances the woman (135 lbs) and the pig on the 135 end of the plank therefore 160x160 equals 135 times weight of woman and pig which is equivalent to 189 and 17.27 lbs. Since the woman weighs 135 lbs therefore the pig weighs 54 and 17.27 lbs.

Mr. H. F. Dally of Calgary was in Bowden on business on Tuesday.

Mr. A. R. Leese, student of Robertson College, Edmonton occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian Church on Sunday last and will act as minister for his circuit for the next six months. Next Sunday church services will be held at Red Lodge at 11.30; Eagle Creek at 3 p. m. and Bowden at 7.30. Rev. Wm. J. Chalmers will officiate at all appointments, preaching his farewell sermon to the congregation he has had charge of for the past three years.

CHEAP LUMBER

There is Quality in lumber; don't forget that. Poor lumber means a cold crude house; difficult to live in; difficult to rent and difficult to sell. We carry cheap lumber suitable for some purposes but the kind you want in your new home we make a specialty of. Inquire about our hardwood flooring. It costs you little more than fir and it adds greatly to the value of the house. We store our high grades in completely enclosed warehouses protecting the lumber from dust, rain and sun. Our purchases are of such magnitude that we demand the best lumber for the least money. Our customers get the benefit.

Cited an Exception.

A religious worker, while visiting a western town, gave a "Talk to men," during the course of which he expressed his conviction that no young man should visit any place to which he would not feel justified in taking his own sister.

"Is there any young man present who thinks one may safely disregard this rule?" asked the speaker.

Whereupon a youth in the rear of the hall rose and shouted in stentorian tone:

"Yes, sir, I do."

"And what, sir?" demanded the angry and surprised speaker, "is the place which you yourself would think of visiting to which one could not take your sister?"

"The barber shop!" replied the youth.—St. Paul Dispatch.

ONE SINGLE PILL GAVE GREAT RELIEF

FOUR BOXES CURED HIM

Plessisville, Que.

"I suffered from Kidney Trouble for several years, and tried numerous remedies and doctors' prescriptions without permanent relief, my case being chronic. After seeing about Gln Pills, and as it is a well known fact that Juniper without alcohol is excellent for the kidneys, I decided to try Gln Pills. One single pill gave me great relief. I have now taken almost four boxes of Gln Pills and find myself completely cured. No more bad humor—Increase in weight—clear eyes—fresh color—more strength and vigor. This is what Gln Pills have done for me."

H. POWIS HERBERT.

Gln Pills will do the same for you—if you have any trouble with your Kidneys or Bladder—or if you suffer with Pain in the Back or Rheumatism. Try them before you buy them. Write National Drug & Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Dept. N.U. Toronto for free sample. Then get the regular size boxes at your dealer's—50c. a box, 6 for $2.50.

WOULD SCREAM FOR HOURS WITH ECZEMA

Baby Dreadful Sufferer. Could Not Keep Him from Scratching. Every Joint Affected. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and He Is Well.

"Enclosed find my son's photo and I feel by writing these few lines to you I am only doing my duty, as my son was a dreadful sufferer from eczema. At the age of two weeks he began to get covered with red spots on his legs and groin, which mother thought was red gum or thrush; but day by day it grew worse until every joint and crevice were affected and baby started screaming for hours day and night, such a thing as sleep was out of the question. I took him to two of Sydney's leading doctors; one said it was one of the worst cases he had seen, the other did not think it so serious; one ordered ointment for rubbing in, the other a dusting powder. I followed their prescriptions for over four months and still baby kept getting worse. I could not keep him from scratching so great was his agony."

"When he was five months old I tried the Cuticura Remedies and I am very thankful to say my baby is to-day free from all his suffering. His groins were bleeding when I started using Cuticura. Along with the time I had used one tin, along with the bathing with Cuticura Soap, baby was nearly cured. I still kept on using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and now, thank goodness, he is quite well and, although he is now ten months old, has not had any further return of the trouble."

(Signed) Mrs. G. Martin, 2 Knight St., Braineville, Sydney, N.S.W., Mar. 31, 1911. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, but a liberal sample of each, with a 32-page book on the care and treatment of the skin and hair, will be sent free on application to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., 60 Columbus Ave., Boston, U.S.A.

"Thinking" Horses Now

"Clever Hans," the German calculating horse of 1900, and "Don," the talking dog of 1911, have two promising successors in Elberfeld, Central Prussia, in the form of a pair of "thinking horses," Arabian by birth, and named Zarif and Muhamed. They are the property and "pupis" of a teacher named Karl Krall. Certain German journalists who have examined Zarif and Muhamed declare that the animals can read and understand both German and French, when spoken or written, and can perform prodigious feats in arithmetic. Answers to questions in subtraction, addition, multiplication and division are stamped out by their forefeet, with accuracy and quickness.

COLD CAUSED SERIOUS TROUBLE

BUT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS
BROUGHT THE CURE

Mr. Hugh Martin, Suffering From Kidney Disease for Two Years, Tells How he Got Back His Health. St. Hippolyte de Kilkenny, Lake L'achigan, Terrebonne Co., Que. (Special).—Again the people of this neighborhood are talking of a complete cure of kidney disease. Mr. Hugh Martin, Jr., a well-known young farmer, is the person cured, and he gives all the credit to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"My trouble was caused by a cold," Mr. Martin says, in an interview, "and I suffered for two years. My head would ache and I had pains in the back as well. I felt heavy and sleepy after meals. I was often dizzy, my memory was failing and I found it difficult to collect my thoughts. I was also nervous while heart flutterings added to my anxiety."

"I was a sick man indeed when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, but by the time I had taken two boxes I was a changed man. Are you surprised that I think Dodd's Kidney Pills a wonderful remedy?"

If you have two or more of Mr. Martin's symptoms your kidneys are diseased. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the sure cure.

Obliging.

A farmer boy and his best girl were seated in a buggy one evening in town, watching the people pass. Near by was a popcorn vendor's stand.

Presently the lady remarked:—"My! that popcorn smells good!" "That's right," said the gallant. "I'll drive up a little closer so you can smell it better."

South American Wildcat Skins.

An importing firm recently received a shipment of tiger cat skins from Paraguay and the Argentine Republic and placed alongside a lot of North American wildcat skins the difference in color and marking was very noticeable. Both animals are about the same size, but the South American cat is covered with round black spots much like those of the leopard but smaller in size.

These spots contrast strongly with the surrounding fur, which is of a greyish white color, very different from the reddish color of the North American wildcat. The fur of the South American wildcat is not so thick as that of his North American cousin, but the skins are said to dress well and make good robes and rugs.—Fur News.

Masterpiece Gone to Waste.

The very seedy-looking young man made his way with difficulty down the corridor on the ninth floor of one of the best hotels and knocked loudly at his friend's door. Anguish was written on his face and wrinkles on his clothes. He was a walking sign of what it means to spend a hard night.

"What's the matter?" called out the sleepy friend.

"Matter? It's tragedy, a death, the end of all things—ruination and grief!"

"Well, what is it?" lazily enquired the drowsy man, without opening his door.

Whereupon the seedy-looking young man, leaning against the door and lifting his voice to a howl, replied:—"I called up my wife on the long-distance telephone last night and told her why I had not returned. And now I can't remember what it was!"

Secret of Unbreakable Glass

Unbreakable glass, for which there might be a demand just now, was invented nearly 2,000 years ago, according to Petronius and Dion Cassius, though Pliny casts a doubt on the story. An artist appeared before Tiberius with a cup of glass which he dashed violently on the ground. It was neither broken nor cracked, but merely dented, like a piece of metal. Then the man produced a mallet and hammered the cup back into its proper shape. Tiberius, however, asked whether anybody else knew the secret, and when the artist proudly answered "No," had him instantly beheaded. The Emperor feared that such glass would terribly depreciate the value of the precious metal.—London Chronicle.

THURSDAY, APRIL 18th, 1912

Au Revoir

On April 23rd the destinies of The Bowden News pass from our hands to the care of Mr. L. C. Newsome, of Strathmore, the recent purchaser and owner of this journal. This issue, April 18th, will be the last one which we will have the responsibility of publishing.

For nearly two years we have had the honor of controlling the policies of this paper and we have done so with certain principles in view. Our aim has ever been to publish a bright, clean, newsworthy local paper, unbiased and free from petty personalities; a newspaper at which no one could point the finger of scorn, and a publication which would enter every family and home as a looked for and welcome guest. To news in which the scandal monger delights to waller our columns has ever been closed and the "gossip" has never found this paper ready to exchange notes. In matters municipal, educational, or religious we have followed a policy of "the greatest good to the greatest number" ever striving to support any cause which would benefit the town or community or lead to the uplifting of humanity at large. We have ever borne in mind that the press speaks the "Voice of the People" and have striven to maintain its dignity and prestige. The measure of success or failure in following these principles our many readers are the ones best qualified to judge. To us, the knowledge that The News is looked upon as an established institution both in Bowden and at Innisfail and its publication is looked forward to each week with interest on the part of the townspeople and district at large, is satisfaction and proves that our efforts have not been wholly a failure and unappreciated. Popular appreciation is one of the greatest rewards which a public institution can receive.

To the townspeople, residents of this district and the business men of Bowden and Innisfail we wish to extend our hearty appreciation and thanks for their generous support and good will so unselfishly extended us. Our business transactions with the merchants and tradesmen have ever been a pleasure a spirit of goodwill and fellowship always predominating these relationships which will always be remembered on our part with much appreciation.

To all those who have aided and assisted The News by their worthy contributions we wish to acknowledge our obligations, and particularly to Mr. H. E. Shenfield who, acting in the capacity of public secretary, has been a never failing source from which we secured valuable news articles, especially those of a municipal and agricultural nature.

To Mr. L. C. Newsome, our successor, we trust this valuable patronage and courtesies will be extended and we feel certain that he will enter upon his journalistic career in Bowden with the hearty support and goodwill of all.

In the future of Bowden we have the utmost confidence. We believe that in the near future Bowden will expand both in size and importance. The foundation of our belief is in the fact that it is situated in the midst of the most fertile and best mixed farming district of the west. Every day the demand for this class of farm land increases, as the westernized farmer realizes that the mixed farming system is the safest and most successful. This will mean a large influx of settlers to this district and a rise of land values, which in turn will bring about an expansion in all lines of business in Bowden. That this boom will be soon coming is our earnest hope, and our best wishes are that the town and citizens of Bowden will continue to prosper and advance along all lines.

H. H. McKim

To Hold Instructive Meeting

We are pleased to announce that Mr. Hunter Manager of the local creamery has secured the consent of Mr. Geo. Harcourt, Deputy Minister of Agriculture to address a meeting of the people of the vicinity of Bowden, who are interested in the production of milk.

Mr. Harcourt is one of the Directors of the Laurentia Milk Co. of Alberta, Ltd. to which the local creamery now belongs.

Mr. Harcourt has wide experience both practical and theoretical in the Dairy Industry and will no doubt be able to give some valuable hints along that line.

He will also as a director of the Company be able to give a good deal of information as to the vast demand and market for homogenized milk and cream.

If time permits Mr. Hunter will give some hints on the care of milk and cream as well as a few points on testing and figuring in connection with same.

Although Mr. T. B. Millar, Managing Director of the Company is in the East at present purchasing machinery necessary for the new process we are almost safe in announcing that he will also be present at the meeting and be able to give some idea when operations will commence.

He walked as slowly as he could, asking questions to delay his visit in dreamland. She answered with quiet, cold courtesy, only half turning her head to speak to him in the narrow path among the elm trees between the broad water courses. But before they came out by the ruined church, he became certain that they were being followed.

Lady Anne knew it, too. His eyes were upon her when she first heard the faint sound of creeping footsteps around the tree trunks. For a moment a look of absolute terror shone in her blue eyes. Then suddenly an expression of relief came into them, and she answered in even tones the question he had asked her. But she did not offer to show him the rose garden, the scent of which came to him through the broken arches of the cloisters, but passed by on the other side, and, as it seemed to Harry, at a quickened pace, as though anxious to get rid of him.

The cloisters went down to the house, and creeping beneath them, bending and hiding in their shadow, something still followed them. Suddenly, a little before the yew hedge was reached, Harry dropped back a step and dragging away a trail of ivy, started through the broken arch right into the eyes of a shadowy face.

Whether it belonged to a man or a woman he could not tell. To him, in that one short glance it conveyed an impression of fierce terror and hopelessness. But as if it had been a creature of his brain, the face vanished, and Harry followed his conductress without a word of comment.

At the gatehouse Lady Anne dismissed him with the same queenly indifference she had shown all along.

"Good-bye, Mr. Worth," she said. "There is nothing more to be seen in Crayborne. You can go back to your country convinced of that."

All that he was convinced of was that he worshipped her, and none the less for her aloofness. He hated the thought of that spy who had tracked her and listened to her, and he longed passionately to get her out of that mournful spot, and to make her rule at Lyllington again.

In his room at the Manor Farm, he sat up writing to the firm of lawyers he had employed before he came to England, and detailed to them his arrival at Crayborne and his visit to Lyllington Court.

WOMAN'S MOST SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE

Known All Over The World
—Known Only For The Good It Has Done.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you will find women who have been restored to health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of the great good it has been doing among suffering women for the past 30 years.

Fox Creek, N. B.—"I have always had pains in the abdomen and a weakness there and often after meals a soreness in my stomach. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me much good. I am stronger, digestion is better and I can work with ambition. I have encouraged many mothers of families to take it as it is the best remedy in the world. You can publish this in the papers."—Mrs. WILLIAM S. BOURQUE, Fox Creek, N. B.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, many of whom state that it has saved them from surgical operations.

"I send you the papers for which you asked," he wrote. "To-morrow morning I shall register the envelope containing them. On Monday of next week I hope to call at your office and go thoroughly into the subject of my claim to the title and estates, and I shall want to know from you every detail as to the administration of the Clavel property since the deaths of my uncle Sir Alan and his son Roger, seven years ago."

He had no envelope large enough to hold the papers. He therefore decided to send them separately, and, placing his letter in an ordinary envelope, he addressed it to Messrs. Trentham & Ash, and left it, on the writing table a little to the right of his bed, meaning to post it in the morning.

He had locked his door for safety, and he slipped under his pillow a small contrivance in the form of an ordinary ruler, fitted with electric light.

Yet, in spite of his precautions, Helen, Lady Clavel seemed to grin at him in bitter derision as he blew out the candles.

As midnight chimed from the clock of Crayborne church he suddenly awoke, convinced in every nerve that he was no longer alone in the room.

There was a rustling sound of paper somewhere near the wall to his right. The electric stick was out in a moment, and by its bull's-eye light, he plainly saw a thin white hand stretched out from behind his bed, grasping the letter he had written.

CHAPTER XV.

The Master of Lodgers.

The arrival of the early train from Bloxham, bringing the London papers to Crayborne, found Harry at the railway station.

His midnight adventure had ended as mysteriously as that earlier discovery of the spy in the cloisters. The hand disappeared as suddenly as the haggard face had done. He was certain that his eyes had not deceived him. Yet when he lit the candles and thoroughly examined the room he could find no trace of any other presence than his own.

Only the lady in the witch's hat watched him with a sinister grin, and, outstretched stiffly in her lap, hands as thin and white and cruel-looking as the one which had grasped his letter.

As to the letter, it had assuredly been moved from its place. The envelope, which he remembered to have closed, had been forced open and a little torn in the process before it had been again fastened. No ghost, as he reasoned, could be clumsy enough to tear an envelope, even if he could have induced himself to believe in spiritual visitants.

Yet the very air of the place seemed thick with mysteries.

Who was the soft-mannered Sarto, and why had he followed Harry solely because he had seen the name of Clavel on his valise? Had he really drugged him to examine his papers? And for what reason had he related that long story about Lady Anne Daubeney, who had never even heard of him?

Again, who could possibly have sent that extraordinary warning conveyed by the pencilled underlining of certain words in a local paper? Lady Anne. It was true, objected to his presence in the neighbourhood because he had claimed kinship with the Clavels, but she was decidedly indifferent on the subject of his very existence, and seemed only to regard him as an inquisitive excursionist, who ought to be shown "the sights" and sent home as quickly as possible.

Even the memory of the "boulder" with the diamond note of interrogation in his tie worried him. The practical, almost auctioneer-like, interest the young man had taken in Lyllington Court estates was curious, and that haunting resemblance in his good-looking but somewhat common face to some other person troubled Harry.

He felt that he was groping in the dark as he strove to understand these things. The first Lady Clavel over the mantelpiece in the Witch's Room seemed to sneer at him maliciously as he crept round the room with his candle, tapping at the walls in search of a secret panel, and pushing with his foot against the wainscoting to find a secret door.

It was all in vain. It was more than probable, as he told himself that in such an ancient habitation there were hiding-places which, in a Catholic family such as the Clavels, had been used for sheltering priests in the days of religious persecution, but he could discover no trace of any such, and finally at one o'clock he was forced to return to his bed with the unpleasant conviction that, lock the door as he might, he was not sure of being alone in the Witch's Room.

He could have laughed at himself for his former objection against the idiot Sammy. The hand he had seen, and whether it belonged to man or woman he could not tell, was certainly not that of the loutish farm lad in question. He remembered Mrs. Gutenberg's tales of former lodgers at the Manor Farm being alarmed by the appearance of "dead ladies" hands among the curtains; but, disquieting as these ideas were, Harry was four-and-twenty and had walked over eighteen miles that day, so that he fell sound asleep again until seven o'clock.

A little later he was at the post office, despatching a telegram to the hotel at which he had stopped in London. In the message he asked that a certain portmanteau should be at once despatched to him at the Manor House Farm, Crayborne. If he meant to make a prolonged stay there, and no ghostly disturbers should prevent him, he would want the extra clothes, but he especially required a case of pistols which he had packed in the portmanteau.

"Ghostly hands and haunting foot-prints hardly seem to warrant powder and shot," he reflected. "But it is as well to be on the safe side!"

Crayborne got up late: the sleepy-eyed boy at the station book-stall seemed greatly hurt when Harry asked for post-cards, books and papers, before nine o'clock in the morning. Harry was giving him a lecture on businesslike habits when the train came in.

Only one passenger alighted. This was a young girl, apparently about twenty years of age, with large, languishing grey eyes, set in a pretty, overpowered face, and a showy figure, larger in the bust and hips and smaller in the waist than is usually seen in English girls.

But this young woman was evidently not English. Everything she wore, and the coquettish way in which she wore it, was French. Her gown was simple enough, being a black and white check, worn with a black waistband and tie, a white collar and cuffs, and a white straw hat with a wreath of roses. But the roses were enormous, and the hat was smartly tilted sideways over puffed-out brown hair; the collar was prodigiously wide, and the young woman's heels were high, and the toes of her boots two inches longer than her foot and pointed to the fineness of a pin. Add to this the fact that she appeared to be covered with cardboard boxes and large paper parcels, which she dropped upon the platform when she alighted, while she gazed pathetically at Crayborne's only porter, and the sensationalism of her appearance may be realized.

"Ciel!" she exclaimed in high, heartbroken tones, starting hard at Harry while affecting to address the porter. "But where zen is zis Lord-dares? Why is it zere is nobody to meet me?"

"Where you do want to go?" the porter inquired, staring at her with wonder and disapproval.

"Etes-vous sourd?" the young woman asked. "Ave I not said it—Lord-dares, Lord-dares? Est-il stupide, cet homme!"

A GOOD MEDICINE FOR THE SPRING

Do Not Use Harsh Purgatives—A Tonic is All You Need.

Not exactly sick—but not feeling quite well. That is the way most people feel in the spring. Easily tired, appetite fickle, sometimes headaches, and a feeling of depression. Pimples or eruptions may appear on the skin, or there may be twinges of rheumatism or neuralgia. Any of these indicate that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has left its mark upon you and may easily develop into more serious trouble.

Do not dose yourself with purgatives, as so many people do, in the hope that you can put your blood right. Purgatives gallop through the system and weaken instead of giving strength. Any doctor will tell you this is true. What you need in spring is a tonic that will make new blood and build up the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the only medicine that can do this speedily, safely and surely. Every dose of this medicine makes new blood which clears the skin, strengthens the appetite and makes, tired, depressed men, women and children bright, active and strong. Mrs. Maude Bagg, Lemberg, Sask., says: "I can unhesitatingly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a blood builder and tonic. I was very much run down when I began using the pills, and a few boxes fully restored my health."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

EMPIRE'S CHAIN OF WIRELESS IS THE BEST IN THE WORLD

British Government Fully Recognizes Importance of Rapid Imperial Communication, and Britain Now Leads in Wireless, Connecting the Dominions.

London.—In the House of commons, H. Page, Croft, Unionist member for Christ church, drew attention to the total lack of organization in Imperial affairs and the failure to carry out the proposals of the premiers of the overseas dominions made at the imperial conference last spring. The Government ought to re-consider the whole imperial position, he said.

Major Archer Shee, Unionist, urged the appointment of the proposed imperial trade commissioners and construction of a state-owned Atlantic cable.

L. S. Amery, Unionist, condemned the Government's attitude regarding unity of the Empire. In the country's present industrial distress, Britain's willing workers ought to be linked to the Empire's boundless resources.

Postmaster-General Samuelson said the Government fully recognized the importance of cheap and rapid imperial communication, and had arranged with the Marconi Company for a chain of wireless stations connecting Britain, India, Australia and New Zealand, at a cost of half a million.

This was of the greatest importance from the strategical aspect and placed this country far ahead of any other country in respect of wireless communications. A state-owned cable across the Atlantic could only result in loss because there would be no constant and certain volume of Canadian business. The cost would be half a million sterling, the annual maintenance, £50,000 and revenue probably not more than £25,000.

At the imperial conference the Australian and New Zealand resolution for a state-owned cable was withdrawn in view of the probable reduction of charges by cable companies, and the Canadian postmaster-general had also said that such a cable was unnecessary.

Later in the day Hon. Louis Harcourt, Colonial secretary, announced the completion of the imperial trade commission. Representatives of the United Kingdom will be Lord Incheape, chairman; Sir H. Rider Haggard, Sir Edgar Vincent, Sir Charles Owens (late of the London and North-western railway), T. Garnett (a cotton manufacturer of Manchester), and William Lorrimer, of Glasgow.

Members of Parliament had been deliberately excluded to avoid any question of party politics.

Completing the commission were Hon. Geo. E. Foster, representing Canada; Donald Campbell, Australia; Sir David Graaf, South Africa; Sir Joseph Ward, New Zealand and Hon. C. C. Bowring, Newfoundland. W. A. Robinson, of the Colonial office, will be secretary of the commission.

Mr. Harcourt in defending the Government against charges of dilatoriness in respect to the resolution adopted by the imperial conference enumerated a dozen matters which had been given effect to, including modification of the Japanese treaty, the copyright act, strengthening, the court of appeal and naturalization. The Government had succeeded in releasing the overseas dominions from the most favored nation treaties with Mexico and Sweden. He hoped the labors of the imperial trade commission would be concluded before the next imperial conference was held.

Leaders of the Opposition expressed themselves as greatly disappointed over the home personnel of the trade commission and regard it as entirely partial. Earl Grey and Lord Burleigh should have been asked, they say, and not men known to be extreme partisans on the fiscal question.

Sir Gilbert Parker will ask in the House of Commons whether Lord Incheape will be allowed to hold his position as director of the Suez Canal, while serving on this direction.

MENACE TO SHIPPING

Lowering of Level of Great Lakes Protested Against by Buffalo Board.

Buffalo, N.Y.—A protest against further diversion of water from the Great Lakes for the Chicago drainage canal has been forwarded to the secretary of war by the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce. It is asserted that the lowering of the lake level, due to diversion already permitted, has worked a serious hardship upon shipping interests, and that if the amount is increased it will result in irreparable damage to the commerce of Buffalo and other communities on the Great Lakes.

The level of Lake Erie, it is claimed, was one foot, five inches lower in 1911 than in 1908, and the resultant lowered loading capacity of the lake freighters already has been reflected in increased rates.

Trans-Atlantic Cable.

London.—In the house of commons, Postmaster General Samuelson, in reply to Harry Lawson, when the latter asked if the government proposed to meet the wishes of the Canadian house for the establishment of an Atlantic cable said: "We do not favor a state-owned trans-Atlantic cable nor a subsidy for that purpose but if any company offered to construct a cable which would carry messages at reduced rates then the proposal would be welcomed by his majesty's government."

SENDING BIG DELEGATION

Western Canada Cities Will Be Well Represented at Louisville Meeting

Winnipeg.—Winnipeg will make a hard pull to bring the national convention of the Real Estate Men's Association of America in 1913 to Winnipeg. Co-operating with real estate exchanges throughout Western Canada, the Winnipeg exchange is arranging to send a big delegation to the annual convention at Louisville in June. A train will be chartered and it is expected that over 100 will make the trip to pull for Winnipeg and the Canadian West for the big gathering next year.

At the annual meeting of the Winnipeg real estate exchange, the preliminary steps toward the Louisville delegation were taken. Alderman Clare and G. Kristjanson, members of the real estate exchange in Saskatoon, were present and heartily endorsed the proposal. The exchanges in other western cities will be communicated with at once.

Shackleton's Conclusion.

BOOMS PORT NELSON

Horace Halcrow Thinks It Is Best Port on the Bay.

Le Pas, N.W.T.—Horace Halcrow, who returned from Port Nelson a few days ago, and who has been several times down the Bay both to Fort Churchill and Port Nelson, declared in an interview that in his opinion the latter was undoubtedly the better port on account of the deep central channel, the wide entrance and the fact that the land where the city would be located is high and dry and well protected by trees. There can be no doubt, added Mr. Halcrow, about the north side of the river being the best location for a city, as the south side is often submerged for ten miles inland.

On the trip from which he has just returned Mr. Halcrow met two men located on land near Port Nelson intending to claim squatters' rights when the time comes that the land will be surveyed. They had been there a year, and were anxious to know what progress was being made with the construction of the line from here.

Speaking about the much discussed line from Prince Albert to the Bay, Mr. Halcrow expressed the opinion that the city would soon find it a better plan to build or encourage the building of a road to connect at Le Pas with the government line than to advocate the construction of a railway to connect farther north, through land which is quite impracticable.

The piers of the bridge at Le Pas, are now completed, but the steel for the superstructure has not yet arrived. There is considerable real estate changing hands, and several sales at good prices.

MADE NO STATEMENT

Colonial Secretary Uninformed on Dominion's Intentions Regarding Navy.

London.—Questioned as to whether with a view to the immediate establishment of one naval staff for the whole empire, the other dominions will be invited to send representatives to the forthcoming conference between the Canadian ministers and the British admiralty, Right Hon. Lewis Harcourt, the colonial secretary, inferred his personal willingness to such a proposal, but added that in the absence of an official Canadian request he could not make any definite statement with regard to the matter.

U. S. AND RECIPROCITY

Senate's Bill to Repeal Whole of Act Provokes Criticism.

Washington, D.C.—The Senate finance committee, in reporting favorably on Senator McCumber's bill to repeal all of the Canadian reciprocity act save the section relating to free pulp and paper, has provoked criticism that is taken to indicate a still existing hope on this side the line that the act may yet be ratified by Canada.

It is boldly asserted that the senator violates the constitution in proposing legislation to change a law touching the public revenues, and that such measures must originate in the House. Moreover, the finance committee is accused of disrespect in not having obtained the president's consent to the proposed legislation.

Senator McCumber says that as his bill does not touch the section of reciprocity which is active law, it cannot conflict with the constitution, that Canada had its chance and rejected it, and now the offer should be withdrawn. He says that the president did not ask the consent of the Senate to propose reciprocity, hence there is no obligation on the part of the Senate to consult the president as to repeal.

Senator McCumber declares that the Republicans, generally, favor the repeal of the reciprocity act. This bill, which the finance committee reports favorably, repeals section two.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON II.—SECOND QUARTER, FOR APRIL 14, 1912.

Text of the Lesson, Mark II, 23 to III, 6—Memory Verses, 27, 23—Golden Text, Mark II, 27—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The record of today's lesson, two Sabbath day incidents, the disciples plucking corn and a withered hand restored in the synagogue, is found in Matt. xii and Luke vi, as well as in Mark, so that it must concern Him not only as the Jewish King rejected, but also as the perfect servant, and as the Son of Man, in whom all things will yet be subdued. To understand Him and His words and works we must consider His as Nazareth spoke of Him, "The Son of God, the King of Israel" (John I, 9), as "The King of the Jews" whom the vine men sought (Matt. II, 2), and as the "Wonderful, Counselor, the Mighty God, the Everlasting Father, the Prince of Peace, who will sit upon the throne of David and whose kingdom shall know no end" (Isa. ix, 6, 7; Luke I, 32, 33). The late Dr. Weston in his "Genesis of the New Testament" says that the Jewish Sabbath was the one peculiar and distinctive ordinance of the nation. Other nations practiced circumcision and had temples, offered sacrifices and performed religious rites, but the Sabbath was the Jewish national flag. In it they claimed a peculiar relation to God as their Creator, Redeemer and Rest, and if by this man's treatment of their Sabbath they are to be deprived of their distinction from other nations, what is the use of being God's people? Considering this, it is not so surprising that the immediate occasion of the determination by the Jewish rulers to put Christ to death, as stated in all the gospels, was His relation to the Sabbath. He claimed to be greater than Solomon or the temple or the Sabbath (Matt. xii, 6, 8, 42), but they would not so receive Him. They honored Him with their lips, but their heart was far from Him (Isa. xxix, 13; Ezek. xxxiii, 31; Matt. xv, 7, 8). They had a form of worship without any power, Jehovah, whom they professed to worship, was in their midst, and they knew Him not.

Matthew says that as the disciples passed through the cornfields they were hungry, and Luke says that they rubbed the ears of corn in their hands and did eat. Our Lord Himself was an hungered on other occasions, as recorded in Matt. iv, 2; xxi, 18. Concerning Israel it is written that He suffered them to hunger (Deut. viii, 3), but it was to prove them and teach them. The wicked are ever watching the righteous and seeking to slay them (Ps. xxxvii, 32), and here they are finding fault and condemning the disciples, and the Lord, too, because they knew Him not, nor the Scriptures, which they professed to reverence. He referred them to their own Scriptures, saying, "Have ye never read what David did when he had need and was an hungered?" (Verse 25.) There is no word of condemnation here for David and his followers. He came not to condemn, but to show mercy, hence His quotation from the prophets in Matthew's record, "I will have mercy and not sacrifice" (Matt. xii, 7; Hos. vi, 6). The rest of the verse in Hosea says that the knowledge of God is better than burnt offering. The primary idea in sacrifice is that God gives to us, not that we give to Him, for in the first sacrifice the Lord gave to Adam and Eve redemption clothing which He Himself provided, a foreshadowing of Christ loving the church and giving Himself for it, purchasing it with His own blood. We cannot give anything to God nor offer Him acceptable service until we have received mercy from Him as the one who saves sinners. Before ever sin entered this world God set apart one day in seven as a time when man might be free from all work and give himself up wholly to becoming acquainted with God, for there is nothing that can compare with knowing God (Jer. ix, 23, 24). The Lord of the Sabbath gave to man in His own image a day on which He might specially bless him by the revelation of Himself as the source of all being and blessing and life and love and peace. The man in the synagogue with the withered hand was strongly suggestive of the condition of the nation and of their inability to do anything for God until they would accept His mercy. In the record, in Matt. xii, 11, 12, He uses the illustration of the necessity of rescuing a sheep from a pit, even on the Sabbath day, but He speaks of the owner of the sheep doing this, saying, "What man shall have one sheep, not see a sheep. He loved these wayward sheep. He came to give them life. He was as ready to heal them as He was to restore that withered hand, but they would not let Him, and the hardness (or blindness—margin) of their hearts was a grief to Him. Note the cry from His heart concerning them. "We would not." "We will not." "If thou hadst known" (Matt. xxiii, 27—cf. John v, 40; Luke xix, 41, 42). Instead of having anything like a penitent spirit, a conviction of sin, their proud hearts so rebelled against Him and His teaching that they went away and took counsel how they might kill Him. For His love they gave Him hatred, they knew Him not, they would not have such a one as their Messiah, but the time will come when they shall say, "Our God."

ANOTHER ELEVATOR

C.P.R. to Build Cleaning Elevator of 1,000,000 Capacity—Fight Against Free Storage.

Fort William, Ont.—The fight against free storage waxed warm here. As the final hearing on the subject in connection with American lake ports is held at Washington, D. C., on April 11, Fort William and Port Arthur boards of trade have sent strong protests to the inter-state commerce commission against American railways contending that they are compelled to allow free storage because it obtains here. As it is Duluth, Superior, Port Arthur and Fort William are anxious to kill this practice. Fort William will fight the thing to a finish whether the inter-state commerce commission abolishes it or not south of the line. The C.P.R. notified the mayor that the company will build in accordance with this city a cleaning elevator this year in time to deal with the fall crop, capacity 1,000,000.

WILL RUSH WORK

Canadian Northern To Press Construction on New Alberta Lines

Edmonton, Alta.—Premier Sifton has been pressing the Canadian Northern to rush work on the lines guaranteed by the province three years ago, a large part of which is graded. The Premier has just received a letter from General Manager Macleod stating that the rails have been shipped for the Brazeau line, the Vegreville-Calgary line and Athabasca Landing branch, and that the only thing delaying the track laying is the completion of the bridges. The company expects to have two track laying gangs in Alberta in a few days.

Government Farm at Lacombe

Lacombe, Alta.—What promises to become a leading factor in the development of the Lacombe district is the Government Demonstration Farm, the chief purpose of which is to study diversified farming along practical and scientific lines. The farm is situated about one-half mile south of the Hyde Park addition, and immediately adjoins the town limits, and is already setting a high standard of farming for this section of the Province. The Dominion Government has just closed a deal with property owners south of the farm, whereby the farm acreage is increased to 500 acres; and $50,000 will be spent in improvements this year. The development of the Lacombe district as a distributing centre for farm products has been very rapid during the past few months.

Wu Ting-Fang For Washington

London.—According to the Pekin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, Dr. Wu Ting-Fang is almost certain to become Chinese ambassador at Washington again. Dr. Wu was for a time minister of justice in the new republican cabinet and formerly held the post of minister to the United States.

HARVESTING IN APRIL

Unique Spectacle Is Seen in the High River District

High River, Alta.—Threshing is again under way in the High River District, although progress so far is not very satisfactory owing to the fields being too soft to move the heavy threshing outfits. The general opinion is that grain has wintered better than expected. The unusual spectacle of harvesting a crop in April is seen in this district, where several farmers are now engaged in cutting oats. The grain is coming out in fairly good shape. The small acreage ready for spring crops is resulting in many power plowing outfits being bought, several being recently unloaded here.

MISSISSIPPI ON RAMPAGE

Floods in Missouri, Illinois and Kentucky Worst on Record.

St. Louis, Mo.—The floods in this section of the country, including Missouri, Illinois and Kentucky, are the worst on record. Property loss has already run into millions of dollars. Cairo and the drainage district above that city are the only two dry spots in that section of the country, the entire territory north and south of Cairo being covered with several feet of water.

Large forces of men patrol the levees constantly, and everything is being done to keep the embankments in condition to resist all the water in sight and more. Trains are still operating out of Cairo, but in many cases are being routed over foreign systems.

Keeping Busy at Regina.

Regina, Sask.—A whirlwind campaign is now in progress in this city for the raising of a $15,000 publicity fund, and the efforts of the committee of the board of trade are meeting with marked success. The heaviest contributions are coming in from real estate men, wholesalers and manufacturers. The immigration season has now fairly opened, and the question of adequate accommodation for newcomers, both transient and permanent, is again coming to the front. Hotel men report full houses night after night; and in many cases there are no accommodations to be had at any price.

New Freight Tariff.

Winnipeg.—The new freight tariff on shipments west of Winnipeg drawn up by the railway companies, went into effect April 1st. A number of reductions have been made, the most noticeable being in clause 1, where such things as bags of asphalt are reduced six cents at Portage and 22 cents at Edmonton, with corresponding decreases for intermediate points. Groceries coming in classes 5 and 6 have a five-cent reduction. The rates from Fort William and Port Arthur to Winnipeg are arranged on the same basis as those west of this city.

We were fortunate in securing a reduction in buying the above lines and can now sell cheaper than the other fellows

Knowing the life of William A. Fraser, the books he has written seem inevitable. Each is the harvesting of certain distinct years of his living; renewed, reworked and transformed by his individuality. The nervous intensity of the writing, the incisive, forceful phrases, the keen observation, the humor, the originality, the sympathy with nature in all its phases, the artistic genius in catching instantly the essentials of a scene or an episode are characteristic of Fraser the man, as well as of Fraser the author. His books are himself; he writes because he loves to write, because he cannot help writing.

Born in Nova Scotia in 1859 of Scotch parentage, his early school days were spent in Boston and later in New York. His unusual artistic ability early became manifest, and it seemed that he was destined for a sculptor's life, but the death of his father changed his plans. He now paints scenes in his novels in vocabularies of colors instead of with a brush. It was with regret that he temporarily gave up the oils of art for the oil of commerce and made a specialty of petroleum; but he was thorough and a second time mastered oil.

In 1881 he went to India as an expert for some English capitalists, and later the British government employed him on some mission in Beluchistan. Nine years he spent in India, Burma and the neighboring countries, not studying the country idly from an armchair, but in nine years of constant travel, where he saw everything and forgot nothing, and it is the splendid fruitage of these years that is garnered in his stories of India.

In 1889 he returned to Boston and married Miss Barber of Toronto, and the year following, went back with his wife for an eight months' stay in the Orient. On returning to Canada he settled in Toronto and for six years went each summer, surveying and doing other engineering work in the North-West. It was far away from the whirl of humanity; lonely, often having no roof but the starry sky, no bed but his blanket, no restaurant but his pouch. He met trappers and guides sometimes, grew to know and love the animals better, and his splendid stories of Canadian life and charmingly sympathetic animal stories would never have been written but for the payment of price in months of isolation. His first story was published in the "Detroit Free Press," and a few others soon afterward gave him that first rich taste of literary creation. He went each year to the North-West with greater reluctance as it cut out his time for writing, until finally reluctance led to rebellion and then to revolt, and he turned his back on it all forever. He consecrated his life to literature and art. Mr. Fraser has had the honor of having his paintings hung on the line with the work of professional artists.

PILES CURED

Writing from Poplar, B.C., Mrs. C. Hanson, proprietress of the Commercial Hotel, says: "I suffered for years with bleeding piles. The pain was so bad at times that I could hardly walk, and ordinary remedies seemed utterly unable to give me any ease. Finally I decided to undergo an operation, and went to the Sacred Heart Hospital in Spokane. There they performed an operation. For a time I was certainly better, but within twelve months the piles became as painful as ever. I tried liniments, hot poultices, various 'pile cures,' and indeed everything I could think would be likely to do any good, but still I continued to suffer, and the shooting, burning, stinging pains, the dull, aching, 'worn-out' feeling that the disease causes continued as bad as ever.

"One day I read about Zam-Buk and thought I would try it. The first one or two boxes gave me more ease than anything else I had tried, so I went on with the treatment. In a short time I began to feel altogether different and better. Well, I went on using Zam-Buk, and by the time I had used six boxes I was delighted to find myself entirely cured. That was three years ago, and there has been no return of the trouble."

Zam-Buk is a sure cure for piles, eczema, ulcers, abscesses, eruptions, chapped hands, varicose sores, burns, scalds, bruises, inflamed patches, and all skin injuries and diseases. Drugists and stores everywhere, 50c. box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Amundsen's Name.

Although Amundsen has been a famous man ever since he discovered the Northwest Passage, his name is still pronounced wrong as often as right. The correct pronunciation is with a strong stress on the first syllable, which is made rather long—"Ah!-moond-sen." The "oo" is not quite so close and positive as in moon, and the "e" is somewhat slighted. The last two syllables, being cluttered up with consonants, take each about the same time as the long "ah," so that the rhythm is much like that of "Edmonton," or "excellent," emphatically spoken. It is a resonant, spirited name, worthy of a modern viking.—Springfield Republican.

The change of dietary that comes with spring and summer has the effect in weak stomachs of setting up inflammation, resulting in dysentery and cholera morbus. The abnormal condition will continue if not attended to and will cause an exhaustive drain on the system. The best available medicine is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It clears the stomach and bowels of irritants, counteracts the inflammation and restores the organs to healthy action.

One Pie for 90 Persons.

Over 90 persons partook at Gorleston of a sea pie into the making of which there entered two stone of flour, six rabbits, six ox and sheep kidneys, 28 pounds of beefsteak, two stone of green vegetables, half a stone of onions and two stone of turnips and carrots.

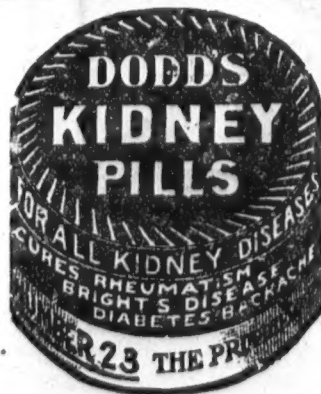

The total weight of the pie was over 200 pounds and it took two days to cook.—London Evening Standard.

Willing to Accommodate

A justice got a jolt the other day, and he is telling the story of it yet. He said that late one afternoon he gave a case to a jury and that it was 4.30 o'clock the following morning before the jury agreed upon a verdict. "I waited for the verdict," said the justice, "and after it was returned I told the jurors that as it was possible most of them were married men, if they desired I would give to each a certificate that he had been detained until 4.30 o'clock in the morning on jury service."

"The jurors consulted together for a few minutes," continued the justice, "and then the foreman arose and said:—'We thank you for your consideration and appreciate the kindness of your offer and desire to say that if your Honor needs a certificate to the effect that you were detained until 4.30 o'clock in the morning waiting for our verdict we will gladly so certify.'"

The justice hastily declined this kind offer with thanks, and just as hastily adjourned court.

"Talk about long playing," said the Yankee to Pat. "Why, your countrymen wouldn't get a look in with us. I know a fellow-citizen who played 'Beautiful Stars and Stripes' on the piano for several hours."

"Arrah, close yer mouth," said Pat. "You ought to be ashamed of yourself, to be talking about nothing. Sure I know an Irishman that played 'Ireland Forever' on a flute."

Winter's Chill Upset Kidneys

Pain in Back Tell of Congestion Caused by Cold.

You Can Prevent Serious Complications by Using.

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

When the surface of the body is suddenly chilled the millions of pores in the skin are quickly closed. Under ordinary circumstances these pores are of enormous assistance to the kidneys in removing poisons from the system. Their failure means greatly increased strain on the kidneys and frequently congestion, which leads to serious disease. This explains why kidney troubles are so frequent at this season of the year, and why you require something to quicken the action of the kidneys and keep them in healthful working condition.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are particularly effective under these conditions because of their combined action on the kidneys, liver and bowels. The whole filtering and excretory systems are thoroughly cleansed and invigorated, the poisons are removed from the blood and you feel like a different person.

The digestive system does not have half a chance when these other organs are clogged with waste matter and sluggish in action. But once you get the liver and kidneys right the mass of food being digested moves quickly through the alimentary canal, your appetite improves, digestion is good and life is worth living.

The Censorship in Russia.

It is pleasant to learn—the story is current in many a Russian household—that the cook books which had been condemned because a recipe contained the words "perfect freedom," words which were used in reference to some culinary process, have escaped further mutilation and have been selling without hindrance. On the other hand, the list of books which continue to be suppressed is long and varied.—London Times.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

12 Tumors Removed Without An Operation

Silver Lake, Ont., Sept. 20, 1909.

Dear Mrs. Currah—I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms. I am very grateful for my present health, and think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows.

Its use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller, down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and pen cannot describe all the good it has done for me. Mrs. Louise E. Bolteridge.

This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment and comes in direct contact with the suffering organs. It produces results from the start in all cases of women's disorders, including painful periods, falling of womb, irregularities, leucorrhoea, etc.

I will send a sample box containing 10 days' treatment absolutely free to any suffering woman who has not yet tried it if she will send me her address. Enclose 2 stamps and address MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

MAN AND THE SOIL.

Dr. R. V. Pierce of Buffalo, author of the Common Sense Medical Adviser, says "why does not the farmer treat his own body as he treats the land he cultivates. He puts back in phosphate what he takes out in crops, or the land would grow poor. The farmer should put back into his body the vital elements exhausted by labor, or by ill-health induced by some chronic disease." Further, he says, "the great value of my Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is in its vitalizing power. It gives strength to the stomach and purity to the blood. It is like the phosphates which supply nature with the substances that build up the crops. The far-reaching action of Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is due to its effect on the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition. Diseases that begin in the stomach are cured through the stomach. A bilious spell is simply the result of an effort made by the liver to catch up when over-worked and exhausted. I have found the 'Discovery' to be unsurpassed as a liver regulator and rich blood-maker."

Miss LOTTIE KNISLEY of Perth, Kansas, says: "I will here add my testimony of the effectiveness of your remedy upon myself. I was troubled with indigestion for two years or more. Doctored with three different doctors besides taking numerous kinds of so-called 'stomach cures' but received no permanent relief. I was run down, could not sleep at night with the pain in my chest, caused by gas on the stomach. Was weak, could eat scarcely anything although I was hungry nearly all the time. About one year and a half ago I began taking your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and after having taken several bottles am nearly cured of stomach trouble. Can now eat without distress and have gained fifteen pounds in weight. I thank you for your remedy and wish you all success in your good work."

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and British Columbia may be leased for a term of twenty years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. No more than 250 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the right is applied for and is situated.

Unsurveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal subdivisions of sections and in unsurveyed territory the track applied for shall be staked out.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mines shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns monthly, accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated, such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10,000 an acre.

The Minister may reserve for an applicant the coal mining rights under 250 acres of coal-bearing lands for two years. Application for a lease must be made to the Agent. Fee $100.00. An expenditure at the rate of $1 an acre per annum, in prospecting by recognized methods, must be incurred.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY
Deputy Minister of the Interior

Synopsis of Canadian North West Land Regulations

ANY person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years of age may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of the intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn home homestead patent) and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.00.

Greatest Sea Tragedy in Marine History

Word was received in Calgary on Tuesday from Mr. A. A. Dick reporting he and his wife saved and board the Cerpathia.

With the sinking of the Titanic it is believed the following distinguished men went down to death as they are reported missing. President Hayes of the G. T. P. and wife were aboard but they are reported among the rescued.

Hugo Ross, a Winnipeg realty man, well known throughout western Canada both in the financial and athletic world.

William Thor as Stoad, editor of the "Review of Reviews" and the "Masterpiece Library".

Col. John Jacob Astor well known American millionaire.

Major Butt, personal aide-de-camp to President Taft.

Francis Millit, an artist of note.

Isadore Strauss was a member of the Roosevelt cabinet.

Colonel Washington Roebling famous bridge engineer who completed Brooklyn suspension bridge.

Benjamin Guggenheim one of the noted Guggenheims of New York.

H. B. Harris great American theatrical manager.

By a remarkable coincidence, Capt. E. J. Smith, who was in command of the Olympic at the time of her collision with the Hawke was in command of the Titanic. Capt. Smith's presence on the bridge of the new ocean giantess, is proof of the confidence reposed in him by the officials of the White Star line, of which he is senior captain.

The Olympic twice met with ill-fortune when Capt. Smith was her commander.

Her first trouble befell last September when she was in collision with the British cruiser Hawke, in the Solent.

Her second accident was recorded in February of this year, when she struck what is believed to have been a submerged wreck, and lost a blade from one of her propellers.

The honor bestowed on Capt. Smith, who relinquished the command of the Olympic to Capt. E. J. Harlick, the youngest commander of the White Star service, is considered remarkable among steamship commanders because of the deep sea tradition, which has it that a commander's care is practically ended when the vessel, for which he is responsible, meets with a serious mishap.

The underwriters at Lloyds were staggered with the news, but it is declared the insurance on the lost vessel is so evenly distributed that none of the underwriters is likely to be hard hit. Reassuring cable dispatches received yesterday had sent the re-insurance rate down to 25 guineas per cent and underwriters closed up at night hopeful that all was well. When they reopened this morning a little business was done at 90 guineas but the rate was quickly raised to 95, which is known as "total loss" rate.

The exact amount of property loss was hard to ascertain today. The underwriters stated that they could not say accurately what securities were on board the ship as yet. It was generally estimated however, that with the cargo, the Titanic would represent a value of approximately $12,500,000. Of this total $750,000 was retained by the White Star company at its own risk, and the balance was placed on the insurance market in London, Liverpool, Hamburg and elsewhere.

The loss sustained is the largest on record in connection with one "bottom". Officials of the White Star Co. say that so far as they know every passenger whose name appeared in the lists cable to New York yesterday sailed on board the Titanic. There may, they say, have been a few who changed their minds at the last moment, but at the offices up to the present no cancellation from or additions to the passenger list have been heard of. As a matter of fact these would be known only to the purser of the Titanic.

Capt. E. J. Smith, into whose hands the passengers of the Titanic entrusted themselves on the voyage which will never be forgotten in the list of great sea disasters, has followed the sea from his boyhood. For 40 years it was his proud boast that he had an uneventful life. That is why he was promoted to the highest position in the gift of the White Star line. Events came crowding upon him only in the winter of his life and with events came misfortune.
